Of Clay & Paper
No Extra UN
Money From U.S.A.

What you might think is a commonplace sheet of paper has a surprisingly large number of characteristics—and they change with the time.

I had grown used to the limp sheet originally furnished us by our mill at Lufkin, Texas (we hold a charter contract from the time the mill opened in 1940), finding it easy to fold and refold while reading The Star.

Some other newspapers were more difficult to handle, crinkling up when you tried to fold them. They used a stiffer sheet.

More recently the same thing has happened with our own sheet. It's tough to fold and sounds like aluminum foil when you try folding. The Lufkin sheet has been stiffened by adding more clay to the paper pulp. If you've ever been through a paper mill you have a general idea how paper is made. First the cordwood is stripped of its bark, then pulverized, and diluted with sulphuric acid. At this stage you put in the additives—such as clay, which stiffens the finished sheet and gives it more "calender"—a hard finish which improves the brilliance of both pictures and text.

Actually The Star is now getting Lufkin's "offset" sheet, formulated especially for offset printing such as ours. And as quality printing has priority I'll just have to stifle my gripe about the new brittle, hard-to-fold sheet.

I mentioned Lufkin as the mill site, for that was the first pine pulpwood mill in the world. Southland Paper Mills, however, has a second new mill near Houston, and recent carload shipments have been coming from there instead of Lufkin.

As you read on this page yesterday, Kurt Waldheim, the new secretary general of the United Nations, is asking UN members to dig up an extra 20 million dollars to bail the organization out of threatened bankruptcy.

He got a cold reception from the United States. If the UN is in the hole for between 65 and 150 millions it is due in part to the refusal of Russia, some of her Eastern Europe allies, and France, to pay their share of UN peace forces' cost.

The U.S.A. didn't like some of those missions any more than the Reds did, but we paid anyway. Now it's up to the new management to collect these overdue accounts before Americans will do anything extra for the UN.

Collins to Be Candidate

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Dr. Richard Collins, a professor of biology at State College of Arkansas here, announced Tuesday that he will be a candidate for state representative for the new position in District 31, which is composed of Cadron Township, which includes the city of Conway.

Dr. Collins, 41, is a native of Shaw, Miss., and has been on the SCA staff for 14 years.

Northside Improvement District Is Formed

At the regular meeting of the City Board of Directors on January 25th, an ordinance was passed creating Sewer Improvement District No. 5. The new district includes the area north of Dairy Street on each side of Highway 29 north of Interstate 30. The ordinance also appointed commissioners to compose the Board of Improvement for the district. The commissioners are Hobart Shirley, Ralph Montgomery and Roland Ballard.

Two ordinances were passed in connection with the bond issue for construction of the Tennessee Forging Steel, Inc. plant. The first ordinance set out the terms and conditions of issuance of Industrial Development Bonds. The second ordinance sets up the terms and conditions of the lease payments to amortize the bonds.

A lease was approved for the Humble Oil Company to furnish Jet fuel and all other aviation fuel at the airport for a term of 5 years.

Pay Board Ignores Own Guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bitterly divided Pay Board again has ignored its own wage guidelines, this time conditionally approving a 10-per-cent pay raise this year for 140,000 railroad trainmen.

But it is uncertain whether the AFL-CIO United Transportation Union will honor the long-delayed pact, which contains streamlined work rules the railroad industry says will speed service and eventually save money.

The UTU had demanded full approval of the pact before putting the new work rules into effect. UTU President A.H. Chesner refused to commit on Tuesday's almost-total approval until he receives official notification of it.

The full UTU contract contains raises of 42 per cent over 3½ years, retroactive more than two years to Jan. 1, 1970. The board cleared the agreement until the present, and said it intends to approve two raises totaling 10 per cent this year if the work rules are put into effect. That leaves uncertain the fate of two raises totaling 5 per cent next year.

The approval motion, which passed 8 to 5 with five labor members and three business members in the majority, in effect grants yet another exception to the board's general rule that wages in new contracts can't go up more than 5.5 per cent a year, or 7 per cent in special circumstances.

The U.S.A. didn't like some of those missions any more than the Reds did, but we paid anyway. Now it's up to the new management to collect these overdue accounts before Americans will do anything extra for the UN.

Rain Expected on Thursday

Rain is expected in Arkansas by Thursday.

A high pressure system that had dominated Arkansas' weather picture was moving eastward this morning and warmer, moist air is expected to replace the dry air that was covering the state.

Although warm air will be flowing into the state, maximum temperatures are expected to be no warmer than they were Tuesday because of a cloud covering.

The board has yet to apply its 5.5-per-cent guideline strictly to any of the powerful unions whose agreements it has reviewed so far. It rejected a 12-per-cent raise for aerospace workers, but then said it would approve the entire raise if part of it is moved to the second year of a three-year pact.

Tuesday's motion approving the bulk of the UTU contract was sponsored by business member Benjamin F. Blaggini, a railroad executive who sources say strongly wants to see the new work rules put into effect, whatever the price in wages.

No Tax Hike Linked to Special Session

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers put a $3.3 million price tag Tuesday on the things he wants from a special legislative session, but said it won't mean a 1973 tax hike.

"The money is in sight," he told the Legislative Council.

The council began hearings on the 40 items Bumpers put in the call of a special session scheduled to start Feb. 7.

The governor said federal money will cover the cost of many of the session items, leaving $3.3 million as the amount of unappropriated state funds required for his plans.

Bumpers said he made the list "as noncontroversial as we can," but, faced with legislators' seemingly skeptical questions, he indicated some matters by spark controversy.

Sen. Robert Harvey of Swift-on noted that four years ago the legislature defeated a proposal similar to Bumpers' plan to appropriate $200,000 to set up a hospitalization and medical services insurance program for uncovered state employees. Sen. Virgil T. Fletcher of Benton remarked, "When you're going to spend the taxpayers' money, there always is an element of controversy."

Bumpers told Harvey at one point, "When I said 'noncontroversal,' I didn't presume that every bill would pass without a dissenting vote."

Harvey noted that Bumpers wanted $308,138 more appropriated for the University of Arkansas Medical Center Family Practice Program, then suggested a disproportionate amount of state higher education funds was being spent at the center.

The governor said center facilities were deteriorating. "I'm willing to bite the bullet and do what is necessary to make it one of the top facilities in the country," Bumpers said.

Bumpers told the council he wants a 1971 drug law changed to provide stiffer penalties for possession of paraphernalia for illegal drug use and for use of forged prescriptions to obtain drugs.

He also said an amount should be specified as the amount which, if found in someone's possession, would constitute a legal presumption that the drug was for sale, a felony charge. Existing law, he said, makes no distinction between "one joint or a train load," and provides that possession is a misdemeanor or first and second offenses.

Bumpers said he made the list "as noncontroversial as we can," but, faced with legislators' seemingly skeptical questions, he indicated some matters by spark controversy.

Peace Plan Promptly Rejected by Hanoi

Thieu Still Supported, Enemy Says

HONG KONG (AP) — Radio Hanoi indicated today that President Nixon's Vietnam peace proposals are not acceptable because they do not abandon the Vietnamization program and do not withdraw all support from President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Although the North Vietnamese radio did not reject the eight-point plan which Nixon said was submitted to the Communists in Paris three months ago, it said they contained "nothing new." Hanoi called again for the United States to accept the seven-point Viet Cong plan submitted to the Paris peace talks last July.

"When analyzed," Radio Hanoi said in a Vietnamese language broadcast, "it becomes clear that the basic U.S. plot and the U.S. stand have not changed in any way."

It said Nixon's proposals are not the way to end the war, and until the war is ended there will be no release of American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

Asserting that continued support of the Vietnamization program and of the Saigon government constitutes "continuation of the illegal U.S. war of aggression," the North Vietnamese radio declared:

"If Nixon does not want to end that war of aggression, then the U.S. military men captured while committing crimes can not go home to be reunited with their families. Instead the list of those captured will grow longer and longer."

Cold Grips Sections

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At least nine persons were known dead today after a snowstorm virtually paralyzed the Seattle-Tacoma metropolitan area and other sections of western Washington.

Snow had stopped falling in most of the hardest-hit areas by late Tuesday night after schools were closed in Seattle for the third time in 22 years.

Most major industries and many businesses also halted operations as drifts piled up to six feet in the city, which has a snow removal force of just 8 snowplows and 30 trucks.

Five of the fatalities were in traffic mishaps.

Sub-zero temperatures and high winds were reported in large sections of the rest of the country.

High winds and drifting snow caused travelers' warnings to be posted again today from Washington to southern Montana. Olympia, Wash., 60 miles south of Seattle, reported 20 inches of snow Tuesday, and wind gusts as high as 65 miles per hour hit Bellingham, Wash.

Travelers' warnings were also issued for the Antelope Valley and Mojave Desert in California, where strong and gusty winds whipped up clouds of dust.

Proposals at Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The following is an at-a-glance summary of President Nixon's statement on the Vietnam war Tuesday:

SECRET TALKS: Private negotiations have been held since Aug. 4, 1969, to break the impasse over Vietnam, but Nixon unveiled them in an effort to breathe some life into the Paris peace talks.

KISSINGER: Henry A. Kissinger, national-security-affairs adviser to Nixon was the negotiator at 13 secret meetings in France.

PROPOSALS: On May 31, 1971, a secret U.S. offer was set forth "to agree to a deadline for withdrawal of all American forces in exchange for release of all prisoners of war and a cease-fire." The North Vietnamese rejected it in July, demanding U.S. overthrow of the South Vietnamese government. On Oct. 11, the U.S. offered its eight-point plan that the North Vietnamese failed to answer.

THE PLAN: The last American offer would see withdrawal of all U.S. and allied forces from South Vietnam, an exchange of all prisoners, a cease-fire throughout Indochina, a new presidential election open to all factions in South Vietnam—all within six months of the signing of an agreement.

Further, South Vietnamese President Thieu and his vice president would resign a month before the election and a provisional caretaker government would take over.

Four Enemy Tanks Are Knocked Out

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese fighter-bombers knocked out four North Vietnamese tanks today and Tuesday along the western side of the central highlands, military spokesmen reported.

It was the first time since 1969, and the third time in more than a decade of the war, that North Vietnamese tanks have been involved in combat inside South Vietnam. A massive enemy buildup including tanks has been under way in the tri-border region where Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam come together, and U.S. and South Vietnamese officials expect a major offensive timed to embarrass President Nixon during his trip to Peking next month.

Spokesmen said the tanks, of unidentified type, were sighted by aerial observers moving on trails inside South Vietnam, and propeller-driven A1E Sky-raid and A37 jet bombers were called in to destroy them.

On Tuesday the planes hit two tanks about seven miles southwest of Fire Base 5, scene of heavy fighting last year, and 12 miles inside the border. A number of enemy troops were moving on foot behind the tanks and were killed, the spokesmen said.

The spokesmen said two more tanks were hit this morning just inside the border and about nine miles west of Ben Het, the border camp which was the target of the last enemy tank attack, in April 1969.

Enemy tanks were first reported used inside South Vietnam in early 1968 when they attacked the U.S. Special Forces camp at Lang Vei, on the Laotian border, during the siege of Khe Sanh.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command reported the 19th so-called protective reaction air strike of the year against North Vietnam, and fighting erupted in the Mekong Delta, an area that had been generally quiet lately.

Offers Pullout for Exchange of Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's newly unveiled eight-point Vietnam peace offer drew a cool reception from North Vietnam today and found little favor with his critics at home.

The President, in a surprise announcement, disclosed a proposal made secretly eight months ago for a U.S. pullout in exchange for a prisoner release, and his broader eight-point offer made last October. The latter proposes that South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu step down pending a new election.

In a radio-television address Tuesday night Nixon disclosed he had dispatched his national-security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, to Paris a dozen times since Aug. 4, 1969, for hush-hush negotiations with top North Vietnamese envoys.

Hanoi negotiators rejected a U.S. offer last May for a pull-out deadline in return for prisoner release and a cease-fire, he said. Nixon said the eight-point plan "has not been rejected, but it has been ignored."

A White House official said the first enemy response "is likely to be negative" when U.S. negotiator William Porter presents the plan publicly at Thursday's weekly Paris peace talks meeting. The official voiced hope for a more-favorable North Vietnamese reaction later.

But a main aim of Nixon's 20-minute address was also to defuse domestic criticism—and various congressmen who have been attacking the administration's Vietnam policy were again disapproving.

Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern said he does not think the new Nixon formula will work. Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said Nixon did not offer enough to gain Hanoi's acceptance. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the American national interest "still requires complete U.S. withdrawal."

Nixon accused Hanoi of having publicly denounced the United States for not making proposals which in fact had been "made in the manner they wanted us to respond—secretly."

Thieu Backs Peace Plan

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu endorsed President Nixon's eight-point peace plan today, saying it promises a "just and lasting peace" for Vietnam.

The plan calls for Thieu to resign and for new elections to be held a month later with Communist participation. This was seen as a major concession on Thieu's part since the elections could result in a coalition government that would include Communists.

"All of the political parties in South Vietnam, including the so-called National Liberation Front, can participate in the election and present candidates," he said in a broadcast.

AL WILLIAMS

Kiwanian Dean Murphy introduced Al Williams of Williams Printing and Stationery Co., Texarkana as the guest speaker at Tuesday's meeting of Hope Kiwanis Club.

Though Mr. Williams did not describe himself, nor take credit for himself as a Lay-Evangelist, he recounted instances in his own experience where he had been used of The Holy Spirit to bring comfort, understanding, and salvation through Jesus Christ to some disturbed individuals with whom he had come in contact.

Quoting from a book entitled "The Late Great Planet Earth", the question was asked, "What's wrong with the world?", and the answer came, "I am". All the world's real troubles come from man and his relationships to things and to other men. Mr. Williams stated that the world today lives in fear of war and the only cure for war is to change the hearts of men. Then he further stated that Jesus Christ is the only one who can change the hearts of men.

Visiting Kiwanians at Tuesday's meeting were Bert McLain, Harvey Eaves, and Lou Freedman of Texarkana, and George Covington of Conway. Other guests, all of Hope, were Kenneth Paddie, Mrs. Patti Tye, Mrs. Dean Murphy, and Mike Murphy.

Sharp Fighting Erupts

SAIGON (AP) — Sharp fighting erupted in the Mekong Delta Tuesday with at least 20 South Vietnamese, 31 Viet Cong and one American killed, military sources reported today.

The fighting, heaviest in the delta in several months, was part of a continuing resurgence of local guerrilla forces in several areas of South Vietnam. They are concentrating their attacks on the militiamen who are now primarily responsible for maintaining security in the countryside.

Only one militiaman survived a Viet Cong attack on a watchtower at Ham Luong, 50 miles south of Saigon, and he was wounded. The attackers killed

CINCINNATI, Ohio, AP — Nine persons perished early today in a fire that destroyed the Green Home for the Aged at the north edge of Cincinnati.

Mayor James Lowery of suburban Lincoln Heights said three persons escaped. They were believed to be a patient, a nurse and the operator of the home.

Police and firemen said all the dead were found in their beds and all apparently were elderly. All were identified but officials withheld names pending checks with the welfare department for the names of relatives.

The home was licensed to care for 11 patients. Firemen who searched the ruins said the nine bodies recovered apparently were all who died.

Police said Cleo Natiker, in her 20s and believed to be the nurse, was burned seriously and taken to General Hospital.

Another who escaped was believed to be the woman who operated the home. She was not immediately identified.

The Ohio Department of Health said the home was licensed to Mary Green Gregory.

Lowery said the fire in the one-story frame building was believed to have started in the basement.

The cause was not immediately known.

Job Bias Fight Rages

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ruling out any compromise, Senate opponents in a swaying battle over enforcement of equal-employment legislation girded today for a decisive vote.

"This will be the showdown on the whole bill," Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Tuesday, although there are other issues in the bill to be settled.

Javits leads a bloc of senators who favor giving the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission power to back its own findings of job discrimination with cease-and-desist orders. The agency, which oversees reports of sexual, racial, religious and ethnic discrimination in private industry, now only issues warnings and gives opinions.

Leading forces on the other side is Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., chief sponsor of an amendment requiring the EEOC to bring suits in federal court to enforce its findings.

The Senate rejected Dominick's amendment Monday by a 43-41 vote, but later voted to reconsider it Tuesday. After efforts to reach a compromise failed, Senate leaders scheduled the second vote for today.

President Nixon and various business groups favor, the court approach approved by the House last September. Dominick said Tuesday, however, that the White House is not playing an active role in the fight, citing what he said is some division within administration ranks over what type of enforcement would be best. Civil-rights and labor forces say the agency cannot adequately do its job without power to back its findings.

Dominick contends court enforcement would be faster and more effective than cease-and-desist orders and also would keep the administrative and judicial functions of EEOC separate.

Sees Increase in Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., said Tuesday President Nixon's 1973 budget request might well mean increased taxes in years to come.

Pryor said in a prepared statement that he disagreed with the President's call for new spending authority for future defense expenditures. "While the immediate increase in spending would amount to only $700 million, the President's request for an additional $6 billion will almost certainly necessitate higher taxes in years ahead," Pryor said.

Planes to Stay in Thailand

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's peace proposals would end all U.S. bombing throughout Indochina, but Defense sources said American planes would remain in neighboring Thailand even after a total U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

The Pentagon sources confirmed this after it was noted that neither Nixon's Tuesday night television speech nor the text of the eight-point peace proposal said anything about pulling U.S. planes out of Thailand.

Although bombing was not mentioned specifically, White House officials said a halt in U.S. air attacks is covered by the proposal for "a general cease-fire throughout Indochina, to begin when the agreement is signed." The cease fire would be linked to total withdrawal of U.S. and outside allied troops from Vietnam within six months of an agreement, with a parallel release of prisoners on both sides.

Pentagon officials indicated continued U.S. air presence in Thailand would be based on the Nixon doctrine which holds that the United States will back up its allies when necessary with air and naval power, weapons supplies and other military aid, but not U.S. ground troops.

The United States is an ally of Thailand in the 17-year-old Southeast Asia Treaty Organization—SEATO—created long before this country became deeply involved in Vietnam.

Thailand feels threatened by North Vietnamese advances in both Laos and Cambodia. But if North Vietnam should agree to withdraw its troops from all other parts of Indochina, as Nixon proposes, they would hardly constitute an imminent danger to Thailand any longer.

But Defense officials said a continued U.S. air-power presence in Thailand could be compared with the basing of American military forces in Europe to help shield the NATO area from possible Soviet encroachment.

Eight squadrons totaling more than 130 F4 Phantom jet fighter-bombers, at least 40 B52 bombers and a number of other U.S. strike planes and gunships are based in Thailand. They are busy bombing the enemy's Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos, supporting Cambodian troops against Communist forces, and on occasion bombing targets in North Vietnam.

European Reaction Favorable

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Nixon's proposals drew generally favorable reaction abroad today except in Communist lands, but some of the U.S. allies in Asian countries were cautious.

Without rejecting Nixon's offer, the North Vietnamese radio said it contained "nothing new" and was unacceptable because it does not withdraw all support for President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

The Viet Cong delegation in Paris asserted Nixon's speech was "filled with electoral propaganda arguments" and added: "It sought on one hand to conceal the policy of prolongation and extension of the war of aggression followed by his administration, and on the other hand to continue to avoid a serious response to the legitimate demands of the South Vietnamese people."

Pote Sarasin, a senior member of Thailand's ruling executive council, commented that the plan seemed to be "a reasonable resolution to end the conflict."

He said, however, any cease-fire for Indochina "must be coupled with guarantees of non-interference in the internal affairs of all Southeast Asian countries."

Thailand, which has contributed troops to the war in South Vietnam, has its own Communist insurgent problem in both the northern and southern parts of the country.

A Cambodian spokesman welcomed Nixon's plan for a deadline for U.S. troop withdrawal and new elections in return for release of U.S. war prisoners, but emphasized there could be no peace in Indochina until 65,000 to 70,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are withdrawn from Cambodian soil.

Thieu, in a nation-wide broadcast, pledged that all political parties, including the Viet Cong, "can participate in the elections and present candidates."

Noboru Takeshita, spokesman for Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan, said Nixon's offer was comprehensive and would permit a settlement.

In Europe, the British Foreign Office described Nixon's proposals as positive and constructive.

Reaction was mixed among a few U.S. soldiers interviewed in Saigon.

Lt. Gregg Hunter, 25, said: "I think the Americans would like to see the war end for the Americans and the Vietnamese. As for the POWs, I think that except for people getting killed it is probably the greatest sacrifice that the Americans have had to withstand."

Capt. John France, 30, like Hunter an Air Force pilot, said he was unsure whether he wanted "to sacrifice everything that everyone else has put into the war if getting the POWs back was the only result."

He noted that among the war's objectives was "to provide the people with a certain amount of freedom of choice in governing themselves and what kind of life they are going to have. Some 50,000 Americans have died to establish that. So if it means sacrificing that, then I don't think we should do it."

Hope Duplicate Bridge

The Hope Duplicate Bridge Club had three tables of players for its meeting Monday, January 24 at the Diamond. High scorers were: first, Mrs. Comer Boyett and Mrs. Syd McMath; second, Mrs. E.P. Young, Jr. and Mike Kelly; third, Mrs. R.L. Broach and Mrs. B.W. Edwards.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Overton announce the arrival of a baby boy on January 23. He has been named Tommy Overton, Jr. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Brown of Hope and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Arnett of Austin.

Free Art Show for Students

"Androcles and the Lion" will be performed in HHS auditorium January 28 free to local grade school students. It is sponsored locally by the Hope Junior Auxiliary and presented by Arkansas Arts Center Tell-A-Tale Groups. The ancient Roman fairy tale concerns androcles, a young runaway Roman slave who on his travels befriends a lion, is finally recaptured and sentenced to fight a lion in the arena. The beast proves to be the very lion Androcles had earlier helped.

Disaster Aid Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said Tuesday he has joined Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas in urging President Nixon to designate 25 Arkansas counties as disaster areas, which would make them eligible for federal disaster relief.

Fulbright noted that heavy rains and resulting flooding conditions in December had caused severe damage to roads, bridges and other public facilities in many areas.

Women Voters Plan Brief

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Philip E. Kaplan, attorney for the Arkansas League of Women Voters, said Tuesday the league would ask the state Supreme Court to allow it to file a friend-of-the-court brief in the Faulkner County voting machine suit now pending before the high court.

Kaplan said the league's interest was only from the standpoint of encouraging the use of voting machines at any place in the state where voters have approved them.

The purchase and use of voting machines was approved in Faulkner County in 1968 election. The county Election Commission refused to purchase the machines and a suit was filed by Thomas Glaze of Little Rock on behalf of the Citizens Group for Voting Machines.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (WP) — NBC launched "Search for the Nile," a BBC series of six one-hour programs, Tuesday night in the two-hour time block it recently opened for weekly specials.

The first two programs, run fore and aft of President Nixon's address on Vietnam, set the scene in leisurely fashion for the adventures of two British army lieutenants who in the mid-19th century set out on donkeys to discover the river's source. Narrator James Mason said finding the source was as important to the 1850s "as landing on the moon was to the 1960s."

Richard Francis Burton was a dashing, arrogant adventurer who had managed to enter the forbidden city of Mecca disguised as an Arab. Then he was determined to solve the age old mystery of the Nile. He was joined in the difficult journey by a starchy, inflexible younger officer, John Speke.

The photography was impressive—much of it was shot in Africa. But the two hours relied for drama primarily on the unfriendly relationship between the two men.

Four more hour-long episodes will be shown on future Tuesday nights. It is undoubtedly an impressive re-creation of British history but it appears to be a more detailed account than will interest most Americans.

CBS's special, "I'm a Fan," was a light-hearted but often heavy-handed hour of comedy and music, all poking fun at the public's passion for sports. The emphasis was on TV sportswatchers.

Dick Van Dyke, the host, was given little clever material. Carol Channing's material was far the best. She was funny as a woman relishing the gore at a hockey game and had a witty song while playing the lady at the loudspeaker paging a doctor at a football game.

Much of the material was tired, and the points of view were obvious. There were some interesting dance numbers, particularly one that kidded half-time shows at football games.

To make room for the President's speech, the networks pushed back broadcasts that followed by a half hour. Each network followed the address with brief reviews and picked up where they had left off before the interruption. NBC preempted "Nichols" for a panel discussion of the speech later in the evening. CBS added a half-hour special at the end of its late news shows.

Cockrill Could Get Nomination

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — When Sterling Cockrill turned Republican and announced as a candidate for lieutenant governor in 1970, many believed he was grooming himself to run for governor some day.

Probably he was, but he and his running mate, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, were side-tracked by defeat in the general election. Still, it was generally thought that Cockrill would have little trouble getting the GOP gubernatorial nomination this year.

Probably he planned that. But plans change. Now, unless Cockrill changes his mind, he will not be a candidate for any office this year. Perhaps he will never be a candidate again.

The key factor is federal laws covering political activity by government employees.

Fashion starts at the top for the girl on the go. Susan Clark, former British model now appearing in the film, "The Skin Game," has chosen this wardrobe of hats to give her a new look. For a sleek tailored look there is the nostalgic '30s cloche (top left) in crushable felt by Betmar. For after dark she chose a side draped turban of black jersey (top right) with flowing drape and open crown by Frank Olive. She likes the young fashion fun in the popular knitted pulldown cap (lower left) set off with a matching scarf. Her pull-over "utility" hat in dyed rabbit (lower right) is a great ally for hiding hair that needs a "do." These last two designs by Merrymakers.

Most Provocative Letters

Dear Helen:

Outside of the response to your "Prophet" quote, which letters brought most reaction from readers during the last couple of months?—INTERESTED AGAIN

Dear I.A.:

"Midwest Matron" who lambasted the public school system received most replies—and the majority of writers agreed with her, sadly enough.

Second honors went to "Yule Ghouls" who wondered why she got so depressed by Christmas. She is not alone!

Religion hung in there at third. I was severely lambasted (again) for my belief that God does not discriminate, even against those of other faiths, or non-faiths. Sorry, friends, a fundamentalist I'm not!

Fourth? "Cat Hater" who had a wreck and faces a law suit because an alley cat climbed into his parked convertible, then jumped on his head when he started to drive. You won't believe this, but every person who wrote took the side of that darn cat! In a hamle between animal and human, it seems animal always wins the sympathy of column readers. Could it be we like our pets better than our own breed?

Here are samples from the "first place" stack:

Dear Helen:

This is in answer to "Midwest Matron."

I am a high school senior and, for the past four years, I have been involved in a program of student teaching, without pay. During this time I have become part of both sides, so I know what I'm talking about.

Her complaints are: tenure privileges, cliques, student stereotyping and treatment—and I agree there are cases where such things go on since, unfortunately, people are fallible.

But, the thing is, she is believing the exact same things about teachers as some teachers believe about students. She's

Baby Elephant Seal Born

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Like proud parents, scientists have announced the birth of a baby elephant seal on the bleak Farallon Islands 25 miles west of the Golden Gate.

It is believed the first birth since a colony of the snout-nosed mammals was established at the national wildlife refuge several years ago, said biologist David Ainsley.

Once nearly extinct, elephant seals have been multiplying and spreading north, and now they number about 300, say scientists.

Hope Girls Advance in Tournament

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Hope's Ladycats almost didn't survive, but a strong fourth quarter at the last produced 20 points in a Joe T. Robinson tournament victory over Calico Rock last night at Little Rock.

Trailing by six points at the start of the final quarter, the Ladycats appeared to be in trouble, not one of their hot shooting nights. However, Janet McCain and Dee Singleton began popping in the points and Hope took a 56-51 win over the Pirates.

Raising their season record to 9-7, the Ladycats travel back to Little Rock Thursday afternoon for a game with Highland, beginning at about 2:00 p.m.

Receiving the tipoff, it only took 12 seconds to score, with Singleton hitting the first two points, but after that, Hope had its troubles.

Calico Rock took a 5-2 margin before Singleton hit two more for the Ladycats, and now after McCain put two in to give Hope a 6-5 lead for a short while, the Pirates began pouring it on.

Outscored 9-5 the rest of the way, Hope found themselves trailing 14-10 moving into the second period of play.

Having trouble all of the way, the Ladycats fell farther behind, unable to put the ball through the net consistently. Behind by ten, Singleton pushed one in with three seconds left in the first half, to pull Hope up two more, trailing 28-20 at the halfway mark.

With a break in the action, thought and new plans were collected and as the third period started out, Hope took the tipoff

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — The strong U.S. team moved into the Olympic Village today after an unscheduled overnight stop in Tokyo.

Sapporo's Chitose Airport was closed for arrivals Tuesday because of heavy snowfall and poor visibility but today the 130-member American group arrived in bright sunshine.

The athletes were received by Col. Don Miller, assistant executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee, who had prepared their accommodations.

The U.S. team included men and women Nordic skiers, figure skaters and speed skaters as well as the ice hockey team.

Minnesota, Ohio State Brawl Halts Game

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Wayne Duke, Big Ten commissioner, ordered Minnesota and Ohio State officials to confer with him today on a brawl that stopped a basketball game between the schools Tuesday night, leaving two players hospitalized.

The game was halted with 36 seconds to play, and Ohio State was awarded a 50-44 victory that gave the sixth-ranked Buckeyes first place in the Big Ten race with a 4-0 record and dropped 16th-ranked Minnesota to 4-1.

Three Ohio State basketball players were taken to University of Minnesota hospital after the game—starters Luke Witte and Mark Miner and reserve Mark Wagar.

The 7-foot Witte and Wagar were held overnight for observation. Witte suffered lacerations over his chin and eyebrows. Wagar also had a cut over his eye. X-rays showed there were no serious injuries.

Taylor and Coach Bill Musselman of Minnesota had differing views on what triggered the brawl before a crowd of 17,775 at the University of Minnesota.

Three Minnesota players had muzzled the boys at the brawl, said Taylor.

Waggoner said Witte hit Minnesota guard Bob Nix, 6-3,

Notes From Pro Golf Tournament

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Notes from the pro golf tournament trail:

After years of struggling, when he was just about making expenses, Herb Hooper appears to have found the key.

"I think it's just that my game has matured," the 32-year-old Virginian said after recording high finishes in the first two tournaments this year.

"My concentration is better and I'm thinking better, but I'm really not doing anything different," the friendly, soft-spoken blonde said.

He even got his first fan mail letter a week ago, from a young lady who announced she was a member of "Hooper's Troopers."

The little touch of success has caused a minor problem for Hooper, however.

"I'd written the people in the Caribbean I'd play down there," Hooper said, "but now that I'm playing better, I'd like to stay here. I just don't know how firm a commitment it was."

The four-stop Caribbean swing offers a total of $75,000 in prize money. There is $720,000 offered in the four American-swing tournaments on the same dates.

Masters champion Charles Coody has changed his registration from Abilene, Tex., to Apopka, Fla. Johnny Miller, formerly of Napa, Calif., now is representing Hilton Head Island, S.C. And Chris Blocker, Lubbock, Tex., is playing out of Jacksonville, Fla., where he and Billy Maxwell have purchased a golf course.

"I haven't yet decided," Frank Beard said, about half in jest, "whether I'm going to talk to the press this year or not. I just haven't made up my mind."

"After all," smiled Beard, who has had his difficulties with sports writers, "look at all the publicity Duane Thomas got by not talking to the press."

Dale Douglass, a lanky veteran of 10 years on the pro tour and winner of three titles, recently was elected a national vice president of the PGA.

The addition of the Quad Cities Open, a $100,000 affair, to the tour schedule this year has boosted the total prize money to more than $7.5 million. The tournament will be played in Bettendorf, Iowa, Sept. 28-Oct. 1.

Maryland, No. 18, got 29 points from sophomore Tom McMillen as the Terps defeated Buffalo 82-58. Bob Vartanian pumped in 27 points for the Bulls, who were within three points early in the second half before Maryland's scoring surge.

In other major college games Tuesday night, Villanova defeated St. Bonaventure 87-72; Michigan topped Iowa 90-66; Texas Tech beat Texas 79-68; Alabama whipped Georgia Tech 99-68; Southern Methodist downed Arkansas 85-51; Boston University edged Connecticut 70-67.

It was also Louisiana Tech over Southern Mississippi 91-63; Texas A&M topping Texas Christian 81-74; William & Mary beating Virginia Military 76-59; Tulane stopping Loyola of New Orleans 73-69; and Oral Roberts downing Lamar 109-95.

In the West Weber State defeated Northern Arizona 86-68; Denver beat Regis 86-65; California at Santa Barbara slipped by Los Angeles Loyola 78-75; San Diego State topped San Diego University 87-69, and San Jose State downed San Francisco 69-65.

SMU Blasts Porkers, Tech Defeats Texas

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas Tech captured undisputed first place in the Southwest Conference basketball race with a crushing 79-68 defeat of Texas Tuesday night and here's a tip for the fans of future Red Raider opponents: Don't boo 'em—it just makes 'em play harder.

Tech guard Greg Lowery, who hit 11 of 14 shots from the field for 28 points, said, "The more the crowd booted the more we liked it because we were ready to play."

A turnaway crowd of 8,000 fans in Gregory Gymnasium cheered the hometown Longhorns and tried to panic the Raiders with their hoots.

"I thought about the game a lot and got myself up because I knew I was going to play under a lot of pressure," said Lowery, who canned a 40-foot shot at the buzzer to give Tech a 38-34 halftime lead.

Tech is now 3-0 in the SWC chase and the only undefeated club in loop play.

Texas holds a 2-1 record and is tied for second place with Southern Methodist and Texas A&M.

SMU blasted Arkansas 85-71 in Dallas, the Aggies out-muscled defending champion TCU 81-74 in College Station, and Baylor trampled Rice 88-70 in Houston in other SWC action.

TCU, Baylor and Rice are now 1-2 in league play with Rice the only winless outfit with a 0-3 mark.

The combination of Lowery's firepower and the salty defense Ron Douglas strapped on Longhorn star Larry Robinson was too much for the Longhorns to overcome.

Douglas held Robinson to only six points in the first half and he finished with 15. Robinson, a sophomore, had been averaging 26 points per game.

Tech Coach Gerald Myers said "Boy! Douglas did a job. I thought the difference was the tight defense he put on Robinson. I'm really happy for Douglas. He started last year but hasn't played a whole lot this year and yet has still had a great attitude in practice."

Myers added "This definitely was our best game of the year. We played a full 40 minutes for the first time."

Tech shot a sizzling 62 percent from the field to 43.5 percent for the Longhorns.

Jeff Overhouse pumped home 19 points and Rick Duplantis scored 14 as the Aggies outlasted the Horned Frogs.

Texas A&M won the battle of the boards with 53 rebounds to 45 for TCU. The Aggies also outshot the Horned Frogs from the field 46.3 percent to TCU's 40.9.

Simpson Degrate scored 22 points to pace TCU.

Southern Methodist bombed Arkansas with its three-guard offense. Senior guard Bobby Rollings hit 11 of 16 from the field and finished the night with 23 points.

Mustangs Hit Torrid Rate

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University hit 62 percent of its shots in the second half to breeze past Arkansas 85-71 in a Southwest Conference basketball game here Tuesday night.

SMU held a 39-38 halftime advantage, but the Mustangs led only 63-62 after a three-point play by Ruben Triplett with nine minutes to go.

SMU never trailed after that time and enjoyed their widest lead at the buzzer as Jack Trout sank a 32-foot set shot.

Mustang senior guard Bobby Rollings hit 11 of 16 from the field and wound up with 23 points to lead all scorers.

Vernon Murphy scored 20 points to lead Arkansas. Martin Terry, who was in foul trouble most of the game, scored 16.

Connects Pro Cage Teams With Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Basketball Association knows of complaints that a team owner may be connected to organized crime and is investigating the situation, Commissioner Walter Kennedy says.

Kennedy made the statement Tuesday in an exchange with Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., whose Senate subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly, is studying a bill to exempt antitrust laws and permit the leagues to merge.

The panel postponed further testimony until Feb. 22.

Ervin questioned Kennedy after an assertion by another congressman, Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., that Cincinnati Royals' owner Jerry Jacobs had organized crime links through a holding company called Emprise Corp.

Replying to Ervin's query about what action, if any was being taken on the matter, Kennedy said:

"I deeply resent the inference that the office of the commis-

Hockey All-Star Game Rough One

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Don't tell the East players that the National Hockey League All-Star game isn't a rough one.

Defensesman Brad Park took a three-stitch cut above his right eye, Phil Esposito was shaken up in a scramble in front of the goal and defenseman Bobby Orr took a Bobby Hull slap shot in his midsection.

But while the East All-Stars got most of the bumps Tuesday night before a crowd of 15,658 at Minnesota's Metropolitan Sports Center, they also got most of the goals and skated off with a 3-2 victory in the Silver Anniversary of the game.

Esposito and Orr, Boston's high scoring super stars teamed up for the winning goal at 1:09 of the third period for their first All-Star points.

Park, the New York Ranger defenseman, was cut as Chicago's Bobby Hull followed through on a shot against the East goal and grazed Park's head with his stick.

Park left the game for stitches, returned shortly and fed a breakaway pass to John

19 Story Fall Fatal to Meyer

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — An autopsy was scheduled today for the body of Daniel H. Meyer, president of the Salt Lake club of the Western Hockey League.

Meyer, 45, fell 19 stories to his death Tuesday from a room in the Radisson South Hotel in suburban Bloomington to the rooftop of the hotel swimming pool, authorities said.

Meyer was in Bloomington to attend meetings of the WHL—he served on the board of governors—and the National Hockey League.

He had left a league meeting about ten minutes before he fell, saying he had some telephone calls to make.

Police said they were investigating.

Wants Pure Olympics

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

TOKYO (AP) — Avery Brundage is in favor of one Olympics, pure and commercialized, but it is a dream that the crusty old millionaire will not realize before his announced retirement later this year.

"They're all saying wait 'til Brundage is out of the way and we can have our way," the 85-year-old president of the International Olympic Committee said.

"They want to turn the games over to equipment manufacturers and merchandisers. The games would be just a competition of trained seals representing the business interests."

Brundage was interviewed by The Associated Press early today in his 14th floor governor's suite at the Imperial Hotel in teeming midtown Tokyo.

It was 8:30 a.m. local time. The energetic octogenarian already had eaten breakfast and had been at work two hours. He sat, in his shirt sleeves, at a small table, scribbling notes.

"You're up early," a visitor suggested.

"Not early—we never sleep," a Japanese secretary replied.

"Be with you in a moment," Brundage said in his deep voice, not even looking up from his work.

At 85, Brundage is a strapping six-footer, retaining the athletic figure of his own Olympic days, quick-moving, full of vitality. They say he is an indefatigable worker.

Brundage currently is battling what he calls the hypocrisy and corruption of the Alpine and Nordic skiing which he contends is threatening the future of the Winter Olympic games.

"They have to eat. To eat, they have to be paid," says Brundage of the skiers. "So commercialism takes over. The skiers become the pawns of the ski interests, particularly those in France and Austria."

Dyer Walks From Hospital

Though Dyer minimized the achievement, those who had seen him in mid-October, strapped prone to a bed and barely able to raise an arm, could only marvel.

Dyer is the 25-year-old Cincinnati Bengals' defensive back who was almost totally paralyzed after trying to tackle the Green Bay Packers' John Brockington in a National Football League game here Oct. 3.

He was rushed to the hospital, where the diagnosis was a contusion of the spine at the neck. However, the diagnosis erased any fears for his life, and doctors said he would recover.

Dyer still wears a neck brace, but walks without a cane or assistance from his wife, Pam, who has been here for the duration and has helped him with his therapy.

Recently, he and Pam have been able to go out to dinner or a show although he remained living in the hospital. They expect their first child in June.

Dyer hasn't completely ruled out the possibility of playing football again, but realizes his chances are remote and that another blow to the neck could be extremely serious. He and Pam left for their home in Tempe, Ariz.

NEW YORK (AP) — Center Willis Reed of the New York Knicks, sidelined most of the National Basketball Association season with an injured left knee, was scheduled to resume workouts Tuesday. But after a meeting with team physician, Dr. Andrew Patterson, it was decided that Reed's knee had not improved enough to permit him to start working out.

Realignment Hassle in NHL

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS

(AP) — The National Hockey League's board of governors took the easy way out of its realignment hassle and now Long Island and Atlanta, the two newest member clubs, know what they're up against.

After kicking around various suggestions to divide the 16 clubs into four divisions of four teams each, the governors chose the simple solution of assigning the new teams to the already existing East and West Divisions.

Long Island got the short end of the straw by being sentenced to the east where it will complete with five pre-expansion established teams along with Buffalo and Vancouver. Atlanta was assigned to the west—an all expansion division except for the Chicago Black Hawks.

"I consider that this constitutes a commitment for two seasons through 1974-75 when we will add two more teams," said Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL. "I'm quite satisfied with the arrangement. My personal preference was the other way but remember, it's not my dollars at stake. I understand why they weren't for it."

Campbell said all but one of the 14 member clubs had agreed on a proposed realignment into four divisions of four teams each last November when Long Island and Atlanta were first granted franchises. But unanimous approval is needed to put any realignment into effect.

"Some clubs changed their minds," said Campbell. "I think as many as six were opposed to the four division concept. And two clubs were most assertive in their opposition."

Long Island and Atlanta were permitted to sit in on the governors' meeting as non-voting but most interested spectators. Their opinions were not solicited.

"They were not asked," said Campbell, "they were assigned."

The league president said he thought some of the opposition to the realignment into four divisions would have meant in two years when the NHL adds two more teams, another shuffle dividing 18 clubs would have to be faced.

Among the cities that have expressed interest in the next expansion are Kansas City, Cleveland and Washington D.C.

Patterson to Get Title Shot

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson appreciates the concern of people who want him to quit fighting. But now the only concern of the 37-year-old, former two-time heavyweight champion is getting a shot at Joe Frazier's world title.

Patterson said Tuesday he used to be annoyed by people who told him he should quit the ring but no longer.

"They're actually friends of mine," said the man who was the youngest ever to win the heavyweight title—he was 21 when he did it in 1956—and the only man ever to win it twice.

"They feel they are trying to help me. That's concern. I appreciate that."

Patterson made his remarks at a press luncheon for his scheduled 10-round fight with Oscar Bonavena Feb. 11 in Madison Square Garden, a fight Patterson feels could put him in line for a shot at Fraizer.

Political Foes Reject Peace Plan

By LAWRENCE L. KNUSTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's political rivals and foes are, with few exceptions, rejecting the idea his newly disclosed peace plan is the long-sought key to the complex puzzle of the Vietnam war.

Congressional reaction to Nixon's Tuesday night announcement of a declaration that the President's disclosure of secret negotiations with Hanoi was his finest hour through doubts his offer would be accepted, to a charge he has been "dealing in darkness to save his own face and that of a corrupt dictator."

Of the several Democratic presidential contenders offering comment, only Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., gave the President's new initiatives general approval.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said he doesn't believe the plan will work, and accused Nixon of "running the war to suit his election timetable rather than considering the military, moral and political issues involved."

The front-running Democrat, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, said the initiatives obviously must be welcomed, but said there is serious doubt as to whether the North Vietnamese will accept them.

Sen. Edward Brooke, a Massachusetts Republican who has differed with the President at times on foreign and military policy, said, however, he has no doubt the Nixon plan is a "generous offer to break the deadlock" and a "major step in the right direction."

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., a declared presidential contender and long-time war critic, issued attack at what he called "the President's blatant abuse of the constitutional treaty-making powers."

The right of the Senate to advise and consent to international agreements is lost, Hartke said, "when the President turns to dealing in darkness to save his own face and that of a corrupt dictator."

But Hartke acknowledged what many Washington observers were saying, that the President's speech may have undercut the war issue by adopting some of his opponents' proposals.

"I cannot convey my anger and sorrow when I remember pleading with the President upon my return from Paris last April to accept many of the same terms he produced tonight from his secret dealings," Hartke said.

Official Republican reaction was generally along the lines of that from Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott. He praised Nixon's diplomatic efforts as "superhuman" and said the onus for failure has been placed squarely on Hanoi.

The GOP national chairman, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, said it will be clear to the nation "that President Nixon has gone further than any of us would expect to end the war."

Many of those supporting the new moves said the President's explanations give the lie to those who charge him with insincerity.

"The point is not to explain the failures of the past," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. "The point is to end the war."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, coauthor of many Senate attempts to legislate complete American withdrawal, said Hanoi leaders previously have rejected "conditions requiring them to stop fighting and settle for elections in the South under a caretaker government."

Two Republican congressmen opposing the President in this year's primary expressed reservations about the new bid for different reasons.

Peace Plans Differ Some

By DAVID MASON
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The newly disclosed U.S. peace plan for Vietnam and the Viet Cong peace proposal supported by Hanoi bear striking resemblances, but they have some important differences.

The seven-point Communist plan presented last July 1 calls for setting a "terminal date for the withdrawal from South Vietnam of the totality of U.S. forces and those of the other foreign countries in the U.S. camp."

Nixon's eight-point plan which he said Tuesday night was presented secretly Oct. 11, calls for "a total withdrawal of all U.S. forces and other foreign forces allied with the government of South Vietnam within six months of an agreement."

Thus a withdrawal time frame is laid down.

The Viet Cong plan says that after the United States sets a withdrawal date, "the totality of military men of all parties and of the civilians captured in the war, including American pilots captured in North Vietnam," will be freed. "These two operations—withdrawal and prisoner release—will begin on the same date and will end on the same date."

The Nixon plan also calls for the "release of all military men and innocent civilians captured throughout Indochina," and it says "the release will begin on the same day as the troop withdrawals."

But then the differences start.

The Viet Cong says the United States must "cease backing the bellicose group headed by Nguyen Van Thieu ... and stop all maneuvers, including tricks in elections, aimed at maintaining the puppet Nguyen Van Thieu." The U.S. delegation to the peace talks interprets this as a call for Thieu's ouster, and it is also closely linked to the prisoner release provision. In other words, there can be no prisoner release without the overthrow of Thieu.

The Nixon plan says there will be a presidential election in South Vietnam within six months of an agreement, with Thieu to resign a month before the election. It calls for voting to be arranged by "an independent body representing all political forces in South Vietnam," and international supervision of the election.

The Viet Cong plan calls for Thieu to be replaced by an administration of "national accord" that would "ensure the holding of genuinely free, democratic and fair general elections in South Vietnam."

One likely sticking point in Nixon's plan is the provision calling for "implementation of the principle that all armed forces of the countries of Indochina must remain within their national frontiers."

The North Vietnamese have never admitted that they have regular forces in South Vietnam, Cambodia or Laos and have repeatedly stressed that all Vietnamese people "have the right to fight shoulder to shoulder" with "liberation forces" in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

Narrow Safety Path

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Yes,

friends, it is a narrow path of safety that we tread in this world.

We are lucky to make it in one piece from dawn to dusk.

The way is beset by vexing booby traps and lurking ambushes. Everything and everybody seems out to get you—if you don't watch out.

But the biggest danger in life to anybody is his desire to please—to be "a nice guy." He wants to say yes when common sense tells him it would be wiser to say no.

Here, for example, are a few typical invitations you ought to duck, because if you accept them you are likely to wind up in armpit-deep woes:

"Why don't you leave your umbrella behind? It rained so much yesterday, it couldn't rain today."

"Since your rich aunt is named Arabella, why don't you name your son Arabesque in her honor? Surely your wife won't object to that."

"You reach over and hold the wheel while I bend down and tie my shoelace. It's driving me batty."

"Since the congregation finished $25,000 in the black this year, why don't we build a new church—a really big one?"

"You pick up the check for this round, and if there's time before I have to catch my train, I'll buy the next round."

"Here, I'll give you the first volume of the encyclopedia for nothing. All you have to do is sign up for the other 87 volumes at $4.99 a volume each month. By the time your boy gets out of college you'll have the whole set."

"Do you want me to tell you what kind of insurance portfolio I'd sell myself if I were in your shoes?"

"If I tell you what I think is your worst fault, will you tell me what you think mine is?"

"You do want to be logical, don't you?"

"I'll provide the food for the party, if you'll grab the tab for the booze."

"Listen, baby, we don't really need all these lights on while we're watching television, do we? How about me turning a few off?"

"They don't look all that tough to me, Jack. I'll hit the little one while you toy with the big one. Okay?"

"These five-button sport jackets will be the rage next fall. How about being the first guy in your block to buy one now?"

"If I tell the boss we both have to have a raise or we'll quit together, will you back me up?"

Proves Secrets Can Be Kept

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Kissinger's nearly 100,000 miles of clandestine international travel for private Vietnam peace talks has proven again that President Nixon and his closest aides can keep a secret.

Kissinger, Nixon's assistant for national-security affairs, was to face newsmen at the White House today to tell how he made 13 separate trips to Paris during the past 30 months without so much as stirring a rumor in this rumor-happy capital.

Initial indications were that several of the Kissinger trips were made in government jets not part of the blue-and-white presidential fleet, and that the talks with the North Vietnamese were conducted on the outskirts of Paris away from the glare of the city's diplomatic scene.

The stocky, graying Kissinger, who speaks with the accent of his native Germany, sandwiched his Paris trips around another journey. That one produced the bombshell announcement last summer that Nixon will travel to China, a visit arranged by Kissinger when he secretly conferred in Peking with Chinese leaders.

As with his China announcement, Nixon and his spokesmen had subtly telegraphed the scope of the secret Vietnam talks which the chief executive disclosed in his national television speech Tuesday night.

A broad indication had come when Nixon, in a nationally televised CBS interview Jan. 2, said:

"We have pursued every negotiating channel ... we have made a number of offers in various channels ... When the total record is published, and it will be published in due time and at an appropriate time ... others will realize that we have gone the extra mile as far as POWs are concerned. I do not want to disclose any further details because negotiations are under way."

White House aides wouldn't publicly discuss details of Kissinger's Paris trips which, according to air-mileage charts, would total 96,526 miles. But they privately expressed delight Monday night that the journeys were accomplished without leaks.

In Paris, observers at the peace conference often had suspected but could never prove—that secret talks were taking place.

They said there were many number of out-of-the-way locations where the negotiations could have been held unnoticed.

Nixon indicated high-level French officials were in on the secret. He said in his speech that "I would like to take this opportunity to thank President (Georges) Pompidou for his personal assistance in helping to make arrangements for these talks."

Candidates to Get U.S. Bodyguards

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secret Service agents are expected to begin guarding presidential candidates early next month, with at least eight of the 1972 entries likely to be offered federal bodyguards.

A panel assigned to decide which candidates are entitled to get protection is scheduled to meet Thursday.

The law provides for protection of major candidates for president and vice president unless they decline it.

The commission must figure out how to determine who in the crowded 1972 field are the major candidates.

At preliminary sessions, aides to commission members have agreed generally that the national public-opinion polls should be the basis for initial selection of candidates to protect.

The problem is to set a minimum standing in those polls as the criterion for major candidacy, and that is expected to be a major topic Thursday.

The commission members are Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the majority and minority leaders; Speaker of the House Carl Albert, Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, and former Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, a public member chosen by the other panelists.

The goal of the panel is to begin coverage by Feb. 1 or Feb. 7. The first presidential primary election is in New Hampshire on March 7.

One source said a standard almost certainly would be set to cover such entries as Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, who has been campaigning for more than a year but still is near the bottom of the Democratic ranking in public-opinion polls.

In addition, it was understood, there will be a more gen-

Secret Talks Have Pursued a Formula

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon appears to have taken control of the war issue with his disclosure that the administration has long been pursuing a peace formula almost identical to that of his chief Democratic critics.

Nixon had, on several occasions, cautioned would-be 1972 challengers against relying on the war in South Vietnam as a campaign issue.

Tuesday night he told the nation why, disclosing that the administration has been talking secretly with North Vietnamese negotiators in a series of 13 Paris meetings dating back 30 months.

He said he has offered a six-month withdrawal timetable similar to one the administration vigorously opposed in Congress.

The disclosures cast Nixon, already a candidate for re-election, as the man who was there first, and demonstrated again the power of a president to shape the issues and the course of a campaign.

With the presidential primaries approaching, Democrats seeking nomination to run against Nixon have put increasing stress on the war as an issue, charging Nixon has not done enough to end U.S. involvement.

Continuing that stance is going to be difficult if not impossible for any Democratic campaigner, at least in the immediate future.

Furthermore, Nixon's nationally broadcast speech disclosing the secret peace offer had a built-in rebuke for his critics:

"The truth is that we did respond to the enemy's plan, in the manner they (the enemy) wanted us to respond—secretly. In full possession of our complete response, the North Vietnamese publicly denounced us for not having responded at all. They induced many Americans in the press and the Congress into echoing their propaganda—Americans who could not know they were being falsely used by the enemy to stir up divisiveness in this country."

As the new year began, Nixon repeated his assertion that Vietnam would not be a major issue in the 1972 campaign, "because we will have brought the American involvement to an end."

The major Democratic candidates with the exception of Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, have supported a war-policy amendment sponsored by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, advocating total U.S. withdrawal in exchange for prisoner release.

It passed the Senate three times last year over stiff White House opposition and each time administration loyalists blocked it in the House.

But Nixon said Tuesday night that the administration had proposed similar terms to the North Vietnamese—not once but three times.

He said the Communists have ignored an Oct. 11, 1971 offer including U.S. withdrawal within six months of an agreement for an exchange of all POWs and a cease-fire in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

The Mansfield amendment advocates withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina within six months, contingent only upon the release of American prisoners, and urges a cease-fire.

The Nixon proposal also covers the political situation in South Vietnam. It offers new internationally supervised elections, with participation by the Communist National Liberation Front, and an agreement by President Nguyen Van Thieu to resign a month before the balloting.

Ironically, hours before Nixon disclosed his secret peace terms, Senate Democrats caucused and overwhelmingly endorsed terms of the Mansfield amendment.

Mansfield said at that time a clear-cut Nixon peace initiative along those lines would be likely to strengthen the Republican president's political position. He said that impact would be only incidental, that ending the war is the prime concern.

And he added that issues of unemployment and the economy are likely to be dominant in 1972 anyway.

Maine's official state tree is the white pine, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Ex-Arizona Senator Dies at 94

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Former Sen. Carl T. Hayden, whose nearly 57 years of representing Arizona in Congress was the longest congressional term in the nation's history, is dead at 94.

Hayden, a Democrat, had been hospitalized here since Dec. 30 for dehydration. He slipped into a coma Saturday and died Tuesday night.

The son of an Arizona pioneer, he was elected to the House of Representatives when Arizona was admitted to the union in 1912. He served six terms, was elected to the Senate and remained there until his retirement in late 1968.

Hayden became chairman of the Appropriations Committee and was elected Senate president pro-tempore.

Although rated by his colleagues as one of the most ardent men in the Senate, Hayden was rarely in the headlines.

"When I came to Congress," he once told an interviewer, "an old hand told me I could play for the headlines and be a show horse, or I could buckle down and be a work horse."

Irrigation, reclamation, highways and silver were the particular interests of Hayden in both the House and Senate.

His greatest triumph came near the end of his career when Congress approved the Central Arizona project, an estimated $1 billion undertaking to bring water from the Colorado River along Arizona's western border through a massive system of canals, reservoirs and tunnels into the desert interior.

Hayden was born Oct. 2, 1877, in Hayden's Ferry, Ariz. The city, now known as Tempe, was founded by his father six years earlier.

Loss in Home Sale Is Not Deductible

By RAY DE CRANE

If you sold your home at a profit last year the transaction must be reported on Schedule D. Any loss suffered in the sale of your personal residence is never deductible.

The tax on the gain may be fully or partially deferred, depending on the circumstances and the age of the seller.

Under these circumstances the gain is deferred:

1. If within one year before or after the sale of the old residence you buy a new residence and use it as your principal dwelling place.
2. If you start to build a replacement residence either before the sale of the old or within one year after the sale and occupy the new residence within 18 months after the sale of the former home.

If either of these two tests is met, gain is recognized only to the extent the adjusted sales price of the old residence exceeds the cost of the new one.

The adjusted sales price is the gross selling price less the total of the selling expenses and the fixing-up expenses.

The selling expenses could include a broker's commission on the sale, expenses of advertising the property for sale, cost of deed preparation, legal services relating to the sale and "points" paid by the seller to obtain an FHA mortgage for the buyer.

Fixing-up expenses are those expenses incurred to make your property more attractive to a buyer. They include painting, decorating and repairs. They must have been made within 90 days before the sale and paid for within 30 days after the sale in order to be considered.

The tax on the gain is not forgiven; it is merely deferred. This calls for an adjustment in the cost price of the replacement home. For this purpose fixing-up expenses are disallowed.

Subtract the selling expenses from the gross selling price. Let's assume the gross selling price was $25,000 and the selling expenses were $1,500. Your net is $23,500. We'll assume also that you realized a gain of $5,000 on the sale.

Your replacement home cost $28,000. This means that no gain is recognized for tax purposes at this time.

You now have to adjust the purchase price of that replacement home by that unrecognized gain on the first years prior to the sale. If you meet these requirements and sell your home for an adjusted sales price of $20,000 or less, there is no tax on the profit, no matter how large it is.

If the adjusted sales price was more than $20,000 the amount of gain that is tax-free is the ratio between $20,000 and the adjusted sales price.

Assume the home was sold for an adjusted sales price of $30,000 and a profit of $15,000 was made. Here is how you would determine your tax:

Since the ratio between \$20,000 and \$30,000 is $\frac{2}{3}$, $\frac{2}{3}$ of the \$15,000 gain, or \$10,000, would be tax-free. The remaining \$5,000 would be treated as a long-term capital gain.

This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for senior citizens. Once you have exercised this privilege to exclude gain you may never use it again.

Laird Fears Russian Weapons Development

By MARGARET GENTRY

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, beseeching Congress for an extra $254.8 million this year, has revived a 10-year-old fear about Soviet weapons development.

The source of concern, Laird said Tuesday in testimony before the House Armed Services Committee, is "electromagnetic pulse" which he described as potentially capable of paralyzing U.S. missiles.

Weapons specialists have explained that big nuclear explosions can release electromagnetic surges which travel through the atmosphere and produce sort of a short circuit in electronic components such as those controlling U.S. missiles and antimissile weapons.

Fears about the electromagnetic phenomenon were first voiced by electronics experts a decade ago. U.S. studies of new Soviet warheads show the danger has escalated, Laird hinted at a news conference following his closed session with the committee. He would not elaborate on details of such a threat.

He said the supplemental appropriation he seeks would deal with the problem. The request includes $113.8 million to buy four Boeing 747 aircraft for an advanced airborne-command-post program, $89.4 million for research and development, and $23 million for an electromagnetic-pulse simulator and other instruments.

Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La.,

question the wisdom of President Nixon's request for increased defense spending. "The use of capital expenditures over and above what is necessary only feeds the inflationary forces within our economy," the Montana Democrat asserted.

Recycled Newsprint Is Now Being Used

CHICAGO (AP) — Field Enterprises, Inc., is putting fresh news in yesterday's paper.

Tuesday's edition of Fields' Chicago Sun-Times was printed in its entirety on paper recycled at a plant in suburban Alsip. Fields' Chicago Daily News will be completely printed on recycle paper next Tuesday.

Spokesmen for Fields said the publication of an entire edition on recycle paper was a first in the nation. They said recycled paper will be used on a regular basis for up to 50 per cent of the daily press runs of both papers.

Fields, which owns the recycling mill jointly with Garden State Paper Co., said recycling there annually conserves 1.5 million trees. The mills are used exclusively for reclaiming old newspapers and turning them into rolls of paper to make new ones.

Waste paper is delivered to the plant in bales and dumped onto a floor on the receiving deck to sort out glossy paper magazines, which are acceptable only in small quantities.

Fork-lift trucks that brought in the bales then bulldoze the sorted paper into a huge square bin that carries it to a whirling container known as a batch-pulper.

The paper is reduced and almost completely de-inked under a flood of water and secret chemicals, the spokesman said.

The pulp passes through cylinders that remove staples, paperclips and other foreign objects. The ink remaining from the first treatment is then pressed out and filtered away to sewers.

The pulp is washed once more, refined and washed again until it resembles a porridge that is 4 per cent fiber and 96 per cent water.

This ratio is changed to 0.5 per cent fiber and 99.5 per cent water by inundating the so-called porridge with 15,000 gallons of water per minute.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The scheduled airlines of the United States marked 1970 as the safest year in the records of the Air Transport Association of America. The World Almanac notes that the report listed no fatalities in the nation, and only two passenger deaths overseas, compared to 1960's high of 307 deaths. Domestic scheduled flights totaled 110 billion passenger miles.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Tomatoes Are A Valuable Food

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I just love eating tomatoes with sugar and my friend insists on eating them with salt and pepper. She says that way they don't harm you. We are in our 60s. She also salts her food at the table and says salt is good for you. I always thought too much salt would cause hardening of the arteries. Am I right?

Dear Reader—The tomatoes won't harm you even if you eat them without anything. They are an excellent source of vitamins A and C. It is hard to imagine that this valuable food was once considered a poison and was included with plants of the deadly nightshade family.

Adding sugar merely adds calories. If you need to watch your calories perhaps you should use something else for seasoning.

Salt is a natural substance in the body. When the body is normal and functions properly any excess salt you use, within reason, is eliminated through the kidneys. There is no evidence that salt in the amounts used for eating can or does cause hardening of the arteries in man.

Salt can be harmful for people who retain excess fluid, such as in heart failure or liver disease. It should also be limited in people who have high blood pressure. With the exception of people with these medical problems, salt can be used. Incidentally there is a reasonable amount of salt naturally occurring in many foods, including meat, milk and vegetables.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Would you comment on this problem? A woman has pain in her breast and irregular periods. She tells the doctor this and when she is examined he puts the stethoscope to her back and chest without even removing her bra, and says it is probably muscle spasm and dismisses her.

Do you think doctors are too busy to really take care of a patient? Do you think she should consult another doctor? This woman is hesitant to see another doctor for fear of making a fool of herself.

Dear Reader—Doctors are people. They make mistakes or can be preoccupied and not do something obvious that they should do. I think if a person is unhappy with his doctor he should tell him so, and why. If the situation doesn't resolve itself, then go to a new doctor.

A doctor should examine a patient for his main difficulty. That means if the problem is pain in the breast, the breast should be examined. If he doesn't do it, ask him why not.

Here is another slam that wound up in never-never land. This time we have to give South 99 per cent of the blame. We would not have settled for a game once North gave some sign of life.

Strangely enough we don't quarrel with South's failure to open with a forcing two bid. Somehow or other no one ever plays at one-club and South had plenty of chances to bid on after the one-club opening.

North scraped the bottom of the barrel with his one no-trump call after West's heart overcall but North did have the minimum for his bid. The trouble with his subsequent bidding was that he just didn't like his hand.

South did really force him and he hated to bid three clubs after the heart cue bid. Still he did make that call and at that point South's only problem should have been whether to stop at six or go to seven.

South must have felt this way at first. His jump to four diamonds had to be a super force and right here is where North made a bad call. North should have bid five clubs but North wanted to warn his partner and made the no purpose call of four hearts.

It did scare South. Suddenly he visualized North with something like the ace-queen of hearts and three little cards in each minor suit. Even with this horrible holding there would be some play for the slam and we still blame South for not bidding it.
